Uniformly unique. Uniform: common, monotonous, even invariable. Unique: rare, independent, singular, unprecedented. The two words seem contradictory and yet they are both synonymous with the spirit of the 1982-1983 year at Notre Dame Academy. The gamut of interests, talents, likes and dislikes of students, faculty and administration is immeasurable. Still, the purpose which has drawn them to NDA, to grow and learn together under the guidance of Our Lady, is shared by all.

There are so many things that students have in common. At the beginning of the year each girl is assigned a locker that looks just like that of every other student. Then, in a matter of hours, every plain locker is transformed into a unique expression of someone's individuality. Pupils take the same courses in order to meet standard graduation requirements. And on graduation day they will wear identical white caps and gowns.

This banner is a gift to the 1982-83 Student Council from 1981-82 President, Erin Sullivan, to wish them good luck in all they do.

During their break from classes, students socialize in the circle outside.

On Family Day, the students eat a leisurely lunch under the shady trees.

PLUS A TOUCH OF CLASS

The most evident symbol of the things students have in common is the uniform they wear. It reminds them that they belong to a special group which is the NDA student body. There is a particular reason to be proud of the uniform in 1982. This year, for the first time since 1968, NDA has adopted a new uniform. It is fashionable, Ivy-league, and flattering. The look is more sophisticated and reflects the purpose of the school which is to aid in the development of responsible, educated Christian women.

Now consider combining the uniformity of purpose with the uniqueness of each individual. Students are different. They look different. They are blondes, red heads and brunettes. Their eyes are various shades of brown, green and blue. Students act and think differently. Some are quiet and reserved while others display enthusiasm openly. There are those who delight in computing the molar mass of hydrogen and some who prefer analyzing the conflicts of literary protagonists.

Students have different likes and dislikes: dancing, Prince, Hall and Oates, brussel sprouts, preppies, nuclear science, art, Harlequin romances, Magnum P.I., Levis, Rolling Stones, Van Halen, rocky road ice cream, Hill Street Blues and avocado sandwiches. People here are known to each other by their individuality. Yet, there are many things common to all. At NDA there is an endless spirit of loving and sharing. The students, faculty and administration all share the need to grow and learn together under the guidance of the patroness, Our Lady, Queen of the Rosary.

NDA is like a choir whose uniform purpose is to sing a beautiful melody. Some are sopranos, altos and tenors. The parts are sung together, and there is nothing more beautiful than the harmony of Notre Dame.

Traci Sullivan, Lisset Fernandez, Christina Cruz, Esther Nakano and Barbara Bader proudly model the many variations of the new uniform.

After a few hours, Cathy Nakano, Christie Durand and Yvette Prade turned once plain uniform lockers into unique works of art.

"THIS IS YOUR LIFE NOTRE DAME!"

This year brought about the introduction of a new section to the yearbook, the Student Life section. The Student Life section portrayed the popular fads: in clothes, movies, and lifestyles of the past year. Emulating LIFE magazine's "the year in pictures", a collage of the favorite things from the past year represented people such as preps, vals and punkers. Music from such groups as "Men at Work," "The Stray Cats," "The Musical Youth," and "THE Clash," And soap operas like "General Hospital" and "All My Children." The items were contributed by the student body of N.D.A. to insure equal representation for every taste.

AUGUST 31ST?

August 31st: the day before September 1st is a nicer way to put it, when you consider it. It was the first day of school at Notre Dame. Either way that's still a little early for most. This day was still looked forward to by most since it held something special for each person: seeing old friends, meeting new ones, dragging the uniform from under mothballs and getting the old gray mass back to proper function.

This year began bright and early at 8:30 a.m. with the Freshman Orientation. For those who can't remember the feeling, it's a cross between the first day your mother left you alone in kindergarten, and riding the largest roller coaster imaginable with your eyes closed. Fears, excitement, chills, anxiety, eagerness and triumph are all mixed into one. The Freshmen were introduced to some of the traditions which make N.D.A. what it is. The cheerleaders and flag team started the energy flowing. Then Mylene Recto gave a rousing speech explaining this year's theme, "Up Up and Away with N.D.A." Of course they were all scared but excited about meeting their new class mates. The Class of 1986 was very enthusiastic about the next nine months.

Orientation Day doesn't hold the same excitement for returning students, but many of their emotions are very similar. There's the fear of not being able to find a date for the Christmas dance; eagerness to tell everyone about adventures while working at McDonald's over the summer; and of course, the triumph of being able to say, "We're finally seniors."

As the students changed over the summer, the school made many modifications which Sr. Gina Marie was well prepared to explain.

There were many important changes: Ten new teachers were introduced to our well qualified faculty. There were modifications in the demerit system and many more school policies, including the revocation of the gum chewing privilege.

As the day ended, the spirit of the coming year didn't die but instead regenerated.

The second day of school was somewhat like a small European marketplace: Book Day, 20 lbs of books to buy, the art of selling used books. "Who would like to buy an Algebra II book with only ten pages torn out?" "I have one with only eight pages missing!" "Mine has all the answers written in it!" Then there's the innocent individual who tried to sell her English vocabulary book until she found the edition wasn't being used anymore. So she sold it for 50% off!

The doors opened at 8:30 a.m., but the lines began to form at 7:00 a.m. The bell rang. The doors opened. The girls streamed in. Who will finish first? Each one looked at her instruction sheet. Go down hall A, make a left at door C, meet your supervising teacher at desk B, D, O or F. Continue down to the cafeteria. The instructions are so clearly explained it takes a genius to understand them sometimes. When the day was finally done, each girl, exhausted and out done, rushed home to prepare for the first day of classes.

Patti Vogt once again encourages the spirit of N.D.A. with her speech on Orientation Day.

"Book for sale!" hollers Aileen Takeda, as she and Rochelle Mitchell peddle their books to the Juniors.

Passing out flyers to the Freshmen on Orientation Day, Mylene Recto carries out her Student Council duties.

"How do I look?" ... "Great!" - Two Juniors, Lesa Campbell and Vernice Hankins, comment on each other's appearance as they anxiously wait to have their pictures taken.

SISTERLY LOVE

On September 10, the annual outdoor big and little sister party between the Juniors and Freshmen was held. Despite the fact that it rained, it was a big success. The excitement began on September 9 when the Juniors anxiously met their little sisters. All pepped up after meeting them, the Juniors went home and began the preparations for the next day.

Pandemonium broke out when rain started falling. But all was not lost because the party would be taken into the cafeteria. Excitement began growing among the Juniors and the Freshmen as the end of the school day drew near. Big and little sisters, after having met in the gym, proceeded to the cafeteria where they ate their lunch. Following a good time of talking and getting to know each other better, the girls played games in the gym including a round of limbo. With great music in the background, the tension and thrill among the girls grew as more and more were eliminated. The girls cooled themselves down afterwards with cold watermelon provided by the big sisters. After a tiring but exciting day, the Freshmen grew to know and love the spirit of Notre Dame.

OUR UNIFORM FRIENDSHIPS

Friendship is the essential bond of unity and school pride of Notre Dame. Each year, our special relationships are recognized during the fourth week of school, "Friendship Week." Each class sponsors an activity one day of the week, to promote friendships between students, and a positive relationship between students and faculty.

This year, instead of ending with the annual Friendship Dance, we began the week with it. It took place on Friday, the week before the actual "Friendship Week." The dance was a great success, as it generated the unique spirit of friendship at N.D. The girls were able to share something they all had in common, the love of good music by "Venice," and good fun and dancing.

On the following Monday, the Senior Class sponsored "Family Day." The student body and faculty were a family in themselves and part of the larger family of God. On this day, they separated into their individual families; a Sophomore and Senior sister team joined a freshmen and Junior sister team. The families joined each other and other families for lunches that the students prepared themselves. Then they all came together in creative competition. Each group made a unique family crest composed of the different interests, names, and likes of each member of the family. The winners were picked because their crest best represented the individuality and unity of their families; they were Debbie Ikeda, Ana Rodriguez, Yuka Suzuki, and Christine Gerety.

Tuesday, the Junior Class conducted a sale of Balloon-o-Grama. Students purchased little balloon shaped notes that contained messages for their friends and faculty members. The balloons were delivered to the recipients during homeroom period.

The Sophomore Class created "Twin Day," which took place on Wednesday. On this day the students were allowed to pick a partner and dress as much as possible like each other without disregarding the uniform. During the lunch period, the "Twins" participated in numerous events including "The Most Identical Twins" competition.

The A.S.B. decided to get into the fun, so they sponsored an event to promote some of the most important relationships on campus. "Get To Know The Faculty Day." The students did not go home with the faculty member nor do an in-depth study on the life of Mr. Hallet. Instead, each student received a questionnaire which asked things such as: Which teacher drives a yellow Matador? or Which teacher's favorite color is purple? The questionnaire was really difficult, considering that we had so many new faculty members, and the teachers weren't allowed to help. Still and all Kim Parker managed to answer enough questions to win.

Each class was successful in bringing old and new friends together during the activities. School pride and unity grew among all the students during N.D.A.'s 1982 "Friendship Week."

A LIVING CELEBRATION AS . . .

Following the Mass celebrated by Fr. Jim Forsen and the induction ceremony, Notre Dame exploded with enthusiasm and school spirit from the student body. The class rallies were lead off by the Stray Cat Sophs whose energy level was starting to rise with their cheer to the song "Stray Cat Strut" by the Stray Cats. The Jupiter Juniors then blasted off into the twilight zone with their routine to "Twilight Zone" and the "Jetsons' Theme". The Physically Fit Freshmen brought us back to earth and showed us how to stay in shape by exercising to "Work That Body" by Diana Ross. The Saturday Night Seniors had us all laughing in the aisles with guest appearances from Rosanne Rosanna Danna, The Blues Sisters, the Coneheads, and Chevy Chase. To top the day off, the annual volleyball games were played. The seniors were defeated in the first round by the sophomores. They, in turn, lost to the juniors. With the support of their little sisters, the class of 1984 became the Notre Dame Day volleyball champs.

Four candles from each class were offered to Mary and carried in procession on Notre Dame Day which took place October 7, 1982. Fathers Jim Forsen and Peter Lleo both celebrated the mass with all those present. Following the recessional, the friendliest students of each class were named and given a pin. They were Jessica McGruder, Michelle Stull, Alma Benitez, and Antoinette Gurley. To begin the excitement and spirit of the day, a representative of each class displayed a banner of their status.

Rosemarie Kabbibi was shown to us as an example of the different life the juniors lead. Physically Fit Freshmen showed the way to keep fit to “Work That Body” by Diana Ross. All four classes used their powerful voices to show their love for N.D.A. The student body was then entertained by the Saturday Night Live Seniors which included the cast of Rosanne Rosanna Danna, The Blues Sisters, Coneheads and Chevy Chase. To top off the day the annual class volleyball games began. The final game was played by the juniors and sophmores. And the winner was ... (drumroll please) ... THE JUNIORS!

FAMILY UNITY

On October 10, Notre Dame Academy held it's annual Family Mass. This Guild sponsored function was well attended by the students in all grade levels and their families. Father McDonald, from Loyola High School celebrated this special Mass which carried the theme of family, unity and friendship. The theme continued on after the Mass when many gathered for refreshments and conversation. The families, friends and faculty were drawn together by the spirit of the day, and much happiness was generated.

"DIFFERENT BITES FOR DIFFERENT LIKES"

"Different bites for different likes." The collage on the preceeding pages perfectly depicted the diversity of tastes of the students of Notre Dame. In the music category, "The Specials", and "X" represented punk. "Billy Idol", "Men at Work", "Haircut One Hundered", "Adam Ant", "Combat Rock" by "The Clash", and "Missing Persons" New Wave. "The Stray Cats" represented rock-a-billy and "Supertramp" represented rock, while "The Musical Youth" stood in for reggae.

Different lifestyles accompanied those diverse music tastes. Preps of preppies tended to like New Wave music. They had preppy stationery, handbooks, photo albums, and Izod notebooks. They wore plaid bermuda shorts, and hair ribbons, penny loafers, top siders, argyle socks and sweaters, and varnees. The punkers and New Wave fans wore bright colored clothes with geometric shapes, concert t-shirts, spike bracelets, checkerboard, poka-dotted, or leopard printed clothes.

There were smaller groups of Favorite memorabilia ... - The Dodgers were well represented and popular this past year after their 1981 championship World Series victory over their arch rivals, the New York Yankees. There were Dodger pens, pencils, a hat, pins, a bat, a bumper sticker, and pennant. We had small collections of stuffed animals consisting of: Smurfs, a Hello Kitty, a Garfield animal and book, a teddy bear calendar, and of course, E.T.! - Animal Farm was represented by "Chocolate - The Consuming Passion", "I Never Met a Carbohydrate I Didn't Like", and stationery. In colleges, U.S.C. had no competition, no one brought in any U.C.L.A. memorabilia. No one seemed to mind though, since the "Looking Good!" calendar of the men of U.S.C. was a focal point in the collage. PAC man of course, represented the video sensation with the Atari home video cartridge, and folder. The other big craze of the year was the soaps. Every Friday the girls of N.D.A. would rush home at 12:40 because they could never get enough of serials such as "All My Children", and "General Hospital". Last but not least came radio stations, with KLOS, KROQ, and KMET among the favorites, represented by bumper stickers.

BIG HITS: AN ALIEN, EXERCISE AND ARCADES

In today's society, there were many ways for the average teenager to alleviate the pressures of school. Some of the outlets were going to movies and seeing such films as "An Officer and a Gentleman," "E.T.," and "Poltergeist." Books such as The Preppy Handbook and Jane Fonda's Workout Book also helped the students forget about school. But the most popular way to relax was shoving quarters into video games. Some of the more popular games were Pac Man, Donkey Kong, Asteroids and Defender. But those that relieve tension were Carnival, Kick, Frogger, Tempest and Ms. Pac Man. Movies, books and video games all were ways in which students found ways to relax.

WORK THAT BODY OR FILL THAT TUMMY

Man has always had an obsession with weight and dieting, but in the past year it was more than an obsession; it was a fitness craze. People tried all kinds of diets such as: The Pritikan Diet, The New York Diet, The Beverly Hills Diet and the live-it program originated by Richard Simmons. Others have tried the quickie diets like Thin Thighs in Thirty Days, and Be Slim in Three Weeks.

Exercise goes hand in hand with dieting. Money was spent joining health spas. The old saying: "You can never be too rich or too thin," was popular again. Richard Simmons and Jane Fonda not only had T.V. shows, but sold millions of books, records and video cassettes. People jogged even if it killed them or made their faces sag. Everyone wanted to become a "Diet Pepsi" commercial candidate.

Of course there are those who joke about this latest trend, writing books such as How to Consume Chocolate, and The Chocolate Lovers Calendar. Books such as these tortured those who wanted to slim down and keep trim. But after all, chocolate makes the world go 'round.

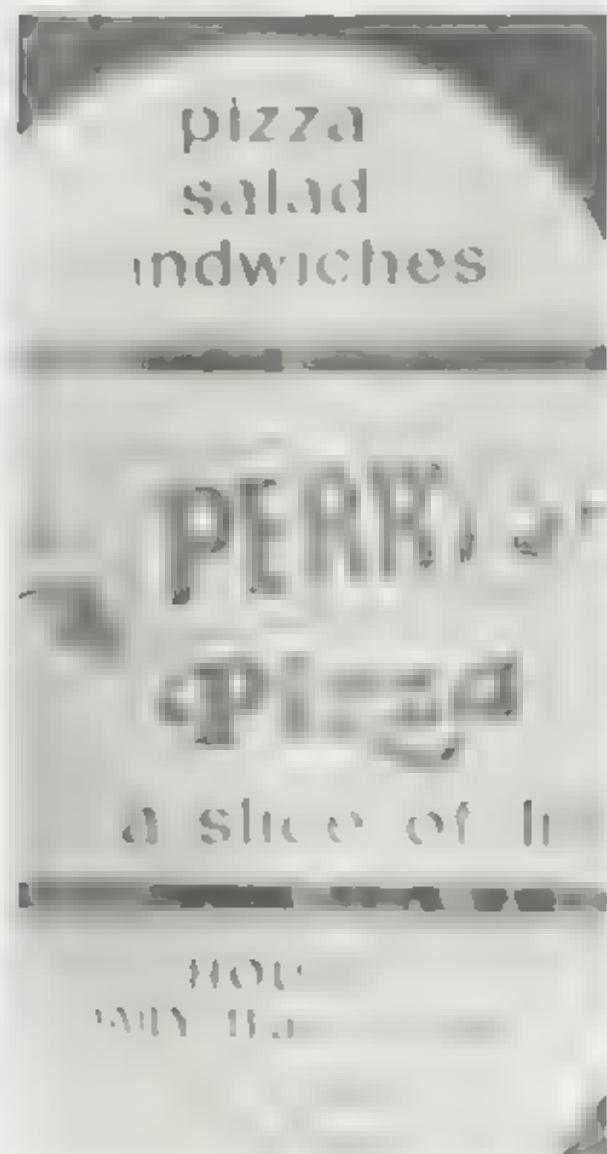

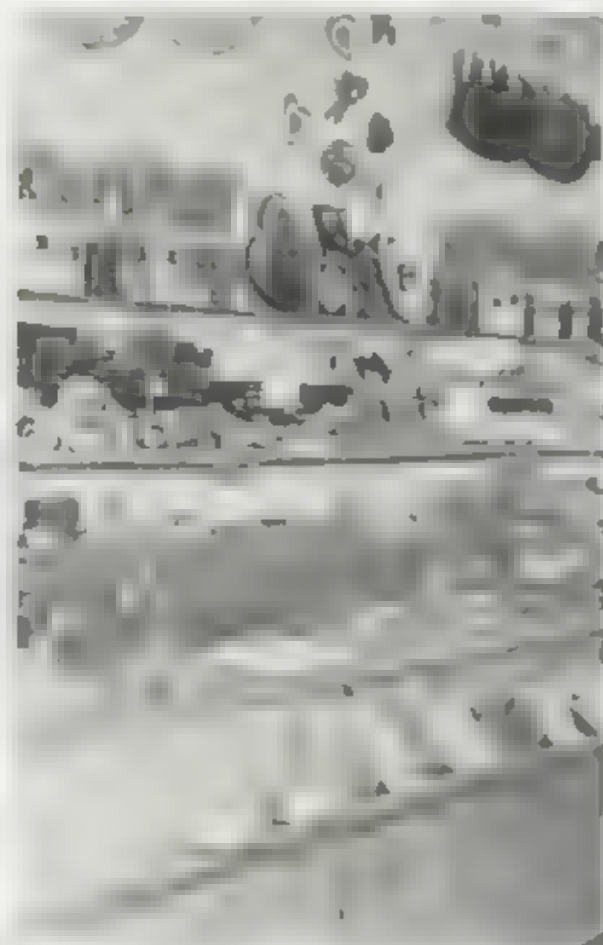

Helpful hints on how to make dieting more pleasant are found in Walden's Books in The Fox Hills Mall.

A FLASH FROM THE PAST

What happened to those young girls in poodle skirts and bobby socks, and guys in thier leather jackets crooning to the tunes of Elvis? The so-called rebels of the fifties? Well they are back now listening to new groups: "Berlin", "The Stray Cats", "Missing Persons", "Haircut One Hundred", "Men at Work" and "Jimmy and the Mustangs." They call themselves New Wavers or Rock-a-Billy. They have their own mode of dress: tight jeans, loud shirts, and flat shoes.

The rebels of today call themselves punkers. They have their own hair fashions, which involve uneven cutting of the hair, then dying it the color of their choice. Punkers like wearing torn clothes, sometimes safety pinned together, and always ragged. Their favorite groups are: "Fear", "Deep Purple", "Wendy O and The Plasmatics" and "Oingo Bongo."

"Look, Muffy, a paragraph for us." The socialites who belong to the country and yacht clubs call themselves preppies. They wear argyle socks, oxford shirts, loafers, and crew neck sweaters. Preppies shop at "Sousa and Lefkovitz", and "L. L. Bean". They are rather conservative compared to the rest. They have a thing for plaid.

"Gag me with a spoon!" is a favorite saying of people called Vals. These people live in the San Fernando Valley (nowhere near the beach) trying to act like surfers, their favorite hangout is a mall which they call the "Galleria." This craze was instituted by the hit single "Valley irls" by Frank and Moon Unit Zappa.

WE HAVE JUST BEGUN . . .

November 22, 1982 proved to be a very special day in the life of each Junior for they officially became Upper Classmen! The day began with a mass for the Juniors celebrated by Fr. Peter Lleo with their parents and friends. The long-awaited Ring Ceremony which followed gave the Juniors a positive outlook on the days which lie ahead of them. They made a great start into realizing their theme, and they "have only just begun to watch the river run . . ."

"Sing We Now of Christmas," sang the Ensemble. And that's just what they did on the night of December 11, 1982. The Choraliers started the Christmas concert with "Celebration." It truly was a celebration for the singers and the supportive audience. Some of the highlights of the program were Vernita Burrell's performance of "What You Gonna Call Your Pretty Little Baby?" and Lynette Chelette's solo, "Make Us One." At the end, the singers surrounded the audience and sang "Silent Night" with sign language. Thanks to all the singers and accompanists, for through their gift of music, they gave each listener a little piece of Christmas.

A pillow concert? What is it? A pillow concert is a time when people get together and have the best time ever. The Pillow Concert was held on November 12, 1982. They have become a biennial tradition at Notre Dame. Everyone brings his or her own pillow and lies on the gym floor. It is quite relaxing. The program consists of various popular music. Each performer should give herself a pat on the back for getting the courage to perform in front of an audience. Everyone did a fine job. The Madrigal singers also did their share and sang "Baby, It's Cold Outside" and "A String of Pearls." Special thanks goes to Mrs. Wendy Susank for organizing the Pillow Concert. AN OLD FASHION CHRISTMAS TALE

'Twas the night of vacation,
And all through the school
Every couple was dancing and listening to tunes.
The garland was hung in the gym with care,
in hopes that the guests soon would be there.
The couples were dressed in holiday red,
While visions of romance danced in their heads.
The girls in there dresses with flowers to hold,
Had just settled down for the night to unfold
When out from the stage, there 'rose such a clatter,
They all sprang from their seats to see what was the matter.
Away to the stage they flew in a flash,
And up went the curtain while the cymbals clased
The light shining down on the band below,
Gave "Prodigy" a holiday glow
And what to my wondering eyes should appear?
The Queen with her Court who brought holiday cheer.
With the lights flashing down, so lively and quick,
Alica Brass was like a star from a flick
And the elves like Santa's reindeer came
And she whistled and shouted; and called them by name;
"Now Dana, now Patty, now Rosi and Yumi!
On Lillium, Esther, Kim, Betina and Judy!
To the top of the stage! to the front of the hall!
Now, dash away! Dash away! Dash away all!"

Swaying to the sound of "Prodigy"

CHOCOLATE! I'M ON A DIET, HOW MUCH?

Notre Dame began its annual chocolate drive of The World's Finest Chocolate on February 2nd with a rally to encourage the students to sell loads of chocolate. The cheerleaders performed a comical skit on "The How To's" of selling chocolate bars. This year each girl who sold her quota by the 7th was rewarded with an adorable lion named Reggie, and each homeroom that had the highest percentage on the high jump day got to keep an enormous regal lion until the next high jump day. The drive was coordinated by Sister Mary Emilie, Sister Mary Claire and The National Honor Society. The overall total for the school was 115.3%. The Freshmen totalled 136% followed by the Juniors with 107%, Sophomores with 103%, and Seniors with 101%. The highest homeroom was Freshman homeroom 306 whose captain was Sister Mary Claire. Father Peter was the school's top seller with 25 boxes followed by Yuka Suzuki and Sister Anna Maria who tied with 12 boxes each. As a result of the drive, cavities, false teeth, and trips to the dentist for a root canal were not unusual. But these were worth it for the benefits the Chocolate Drive money brought to N.D.A.

SERVING OUR SCHOOL

The role that Christian Service played in the school was an important one. Christian Service was not an organization but rather an attitude of all the students. Many projects organized involved the whole school community. In November, students collected canned goods and food packages to make a Thanksgiving meal for each homeroom's "adopted" family. During the Christmas Season, new and old toys were wrapped and given to the children of the St. Lawrence Brindisi Church of Los Angeles. Cards ranging from Balloon-ograms to N.D.A.-grams were sold and the money given to Notre Dame Missions.

This year each class chose special activities to promote this sharing attitude through the experience of helping others. As a requirement of their Genesis Two religion class, the Seniors volunteered 15 hours of service at various places. They represented Notre Dame as candy-strippers at nearby hospitals, as teachers' assistants at the elementary schools, and at many other service centers. Many Seniors also volunteered to help at a Red Cross blood mobile held at UCLA.

The Seniors weren't alone in their endeavors to help others. The Juniors helped in the special games for the handicapped. The Sophomores sent valentines to the Country Villa Convalescent Home in conjunction with the school sponsored "Adopt-a-grandparent" program. The Freshmen planned and worked at the traditional end of the year ecology party. Student Council got in the act with a valentine's party for Regis House. Throughout the year, Christian Service helped unite the school in a spiritual sense.

WHAT'S A SENIOR?

The Senior Class of 1983 began feeling symptoms of "seniorities" or what is commonly known as senior insanity. It began on the first day of school and built up until every senior was fully in its grip. What were some symptoms of this strange affliction? They were sitting in class and not always hearing every word. They were multiplying the days by twenty-four to see how many hours it was to the Prom or Grad Nite. It was dealing with unexpected disasters like learning your purse was somewhere in the school building after lock up, or losing your entire Government notes for the second time. All this was part of senior craziness.

The observance of many traditions helped show some of the senior spirit and unity. Senior Class Day and Notre Dame Day were just two of the events that gave them a chance to show their tremendous pride.

But there were a lot of special times shared by all the Seniors during the past year that made up for the bad times. Senior Retreat was one of these times. In between the snowball fights and planned activities, seniors grew into a united class of unique individuals

Raquel Couce's triumphant smile is a perfect example of a surviving Senior

An important aspect of senior year was the speculation about the future. There were a lot of new pressures to deal with as seniors. Yet there was both excitement and dread about moving forward. As the seniors made the transition to graduates, they underwent many changes. There were many memories of senior life: dried corsages, little sisters, college brochures, senior pictures, old school notebooks, dance tickets and more. The graduating class of 1983 grew together because of all that was shared. As they anticipated what they will be doing at this time next year, many invariably recalled all the things that they will remember forever about senior year, the year of "senior insanity."

The Senior year does not come to a halt after the first semester. The second semester is the most challenging and gruelling. After one gets through with the term papers, tests and the day to day grind she can have a rather joyous time. She can look forward to the Prom, Grad Nite, Senior Honor Day, Senior Class Day, and Graduation. The Prom was held this year at the Ambassador Hotel on April 30, 1983. For most it was a time to get dressed up and to be foot loose and fancy free. Grad Nite at Disneyland held on June 3 gave the Seniors an opportunity to get a little crazy and party with their friends before leaving high school.

The Class of 83 had one last chance to show off their creativity and performing skills on Senior Class Day. And on Honor Day Seniors were publicly applauded for their personal academic achievements.

Graduation was a day filled with emotion, joy and reality. Seniors worked for four years to build a future for themselves. On June 5th, they broke away from the old to form a new beginning. The time had come for the graduates to put their dreams into action as they enter the real world.

I'm Dreaming of a Snowy Retreat

One hundred and one seniors prayed for snow this year for their senior retreat. This was the first senior class to go on retreat late enough in the year for snow. Their prayers were answered, for when they arrived, snow was on the ground. Father Dan Laner and the entire retreat team welcomed the seniors on their arrival. Aside from the cold weather and little sleep, the retreat was a very memorable experience. Sister Gina Marie - who kept warm with a U.S.C. sweatshirt, Sister Maria Paul, Father Peter Lleo, Mrs. Ann Gilbert, and Miss Adelle Rennie accompanied the seniors. Everyone performed in skits and made posters to represent themselves artistically. One experience that the seniors all shared was the eating of homemade bread, which symbolized the body of Christ, and drinking of grape juice, which symbolized the blood of Christ. What made it special was: no one could feed himself. Everyone had to be fed by someone else. The last night of the retreat, mass was celebrated, and to top off the evening, it began to snow! The seniors patched up friendships and also made new ones. They shared emotions and experiences and became closer as a class and as friends.

Senior Insanity

Here "The Not Ready for Prime Time Seniors" show their class spirit. Love from NDA it's Saturday Night Live Seniors!

On the first day of school, the seniors gathered for their final year at Notre Dame. The transition from seniors to graduates was a gradual but important one. The long awaited use of senior privileges such as off-campus lunches were finally here. There were also many pressures and challenges faced like SATs, exams, and college applications. But over the past four years, seniors grew closer and shared many special times.

Notre Dame Day and Senior Class Day gave the seniors a chance to show their strong class pride and spirit. Another important event was the Senior Retreat held at Camp Mariastella in the snowy mountains of Wrightwood. The Prom held at the Ambassador Hotel and Grad Nite at Disneyland were among their last remembrances of Senior year. The members of the Class of 1983 have shared many memories during their years at NDA, growing closer and more united as a class and as individuals.

OUT OF SCHOOL AND HARD AT WORK

An important part of Notre Dame's students' education was the variety of clubs, sports teams and school-sponsored activities available to them. These provided students with an opportunity to get involved in activities outside of organized classes.

There were many organizations in which students could participate. Students who wished to lead at the school and volunteer their time participated in Student Council, The National Honor Society, and Queen's Council or G.A.A. They first had to meet academic and other standards and be chosen by peers and faculty. The Flag Team and Cheerleaders were opened to those students who wished to arouse school spirit and provide an enthusiastic atmosphere for all. Those who had athletic or artistic abilities joined a sports team or the Music Club to improve and exhibit their talents. There were also religious clubs designed to promote a Christian attitude among the student body. The Mission Club and Campus Ministry are two examples. Notre Dame provided a variety of clubs to meet each student's particular interests.

Extra-curricular activities offered students chances to improve their leadership qualities, talents and skills, and to be active members of the N.D.A. community.

PARENTS DO IT BETTER

Through the organization of the Notre Dame Guild, parents have had an opportunity to contribute more than tuition to their daughter's education. They have given their knowledge, time, and energy. This year, under the guidance of Mr. James Padden, the Guild sponsored numerous activities for the enrichment of the school.

The Guild began the year with a Family Mass and continental breakfast on October 10. The students were invited to attend Sunday Mass in the environment of school and friends. After Mass, food and beverages were served while families had a chance to get acquainted.

Some other engagements included in the Guild schedule were the fall Fashion Show and the Christmas Boutique. For the Fashion Show, Notre Dame students coordinated with parents and with students from surrounding boys' schools to model clothes relating to the theme of fashion odyssey. The Christmas boutique provided an opportunity for individuals to support the school as well as accomplish some early Christmas shopping. Through these and various activities, the Guild encouraged everyone to become involved.

Mr. James Padden is giving the introduction to the Family Mass.

A poor little lost soul seems to be searching for his mother at the Christmas boutique.

UP, UP AND AWAY

"Up, Up and Away," the Student Council lived up to its '83 theme, by continually striving, through their leadership, to show that N.D.A. is #1. The Council consisted of individuals who were elected by their peers, ASB officers, class officers, homeroom reps., and the presidents of G.A.A., the Mission club, the Music club, Queen's Council, and the editor of Royale. They convened weekly for meetings to discuss and plan activities. At the beginning of the school year, a retreat was held for the Student Council to unite them and instill the importance of their roles as school leaders.

The jobs of the members were many, and required dedication and leadership ability because they had to work with the students and faculty. They served as a link of communication to the student body. They also represented the spiritual and intellectual ideals of Christian women.

Throughout the year, they organized and sponsored many school and community activities. Starting from the first day of school, they assisted on Book Day and Orientation introducing new and returning students to N.D.A. On special days like Halloween and St. Patrick's day, activities in keeping with the holiday themes were planned. There was also much enthusiasm and organization behind the plans made for the school dances. A new activity initiated this year was Video day, an entire day set aside to entertain students with video movies.

They supported everything from bake sales to sports events to boutiques and everything in between. The money and profits made were returned to the school to help pay for needed improvements. Under the advisory leadership of Sister Marie Paul, they faced all with spirit, energy and commitment to make 1983 unique and special.

A MISSION OF LOVE

One organization that exemplified the religious and moral goals of Notre Dame was the Mission Club. President Lillian Paetzold, Vice President Judy Story and Secretary-Treasurer Karen Sorey headed the club made up of twelve mission representatives and members. Mission representatives recorded collections made by their homerooms, and those students who reached their quota of $10 received a Mission pennant in their class color. Many special activities were held to raise money. Santa-Grams, bake sales, crazy coin days, and Raggedy Ann doll raffles were a few of the many ways the M.C. collected money. Under the guidance of the club's moderator, Sister Mary Claire, the money donated was sent to help many needy missions in India and South America.

SERVICE WITH A SMILE

The 1982-1983 Queen's Council expanded to approximately 24 girls. Its growth has been tremendous considering the club was started just two years ago. Queen's Council is an Honorary Service Society, whose main purpose is to serve at various N.D.A. social functions such as Back-to-School Night, The Fashion Show, Open House, Choral Concerts, and graduation. Queen's Council is open to interested Juniors and Seniors, who are chosen according to their poise as well as academics. This years student officers are: President, Patricia LaHickey, Vice-President, Anne-Marie Mazarella, and Secretary, Monica McNicholas. Sister Gina Marie created Queen's Council two years ago, and continued to support them in 1982-1983 with her own special support and enthusiasm.

The Girls' Athletic Association (G.A.A.) was a special club with all the members interested in two things: performance and team work.

Each year, all volleyball, cross-country, basketball, softball, track, cheerleaders and flag team members joined in an effort to promote unity and spirit and support the school's athletic program. President Patty O' Donnell led the group in organizing intramural volleyball and ping-pong tournaments, which were participated by many students. Along with her board, Denise Hagen, Kristen Eckley, Luanne Moore, and Valencia Roner, she also kept track of individual students' points, organized the awards banquet and sponsored drives to buy trophies for outstanding athletes.

Actively participating in G.A.A gave all an opportunity to earn a Lettergirl sweater as a sign of her dedication, spirit and talent. One of the most popular events offered was the yearly Faculty vs. Lettergirl volleyball game. When the year came to an end, a sports banquet was held to recognize those who had participated, supported and excelled in the athletic program.

BEFORE WE ARE COMMITTED, LET'S FINISH THIS BOOK

What was Royale? Royale was a group of students that stayed after school 'til all hours of the night. Their common goal was to produce a book filled with pictures and memories of the past year. As one passed by room 307, the Royale Asylum, one could hear strange cries such as:

Who has my body? I need a dummy!

How many days 'til the dead-line?

of these bloody stumps!

This staff many times doubted their sanity but somehow produced a yearbook. When they had problems they solved them with ingenuity. On February 9th the Valentien's Dance, scheduled for the 11th, was canceled. The Staff thought fast, with less than two weeks 'til the final dead-line and no event in sight to replace the dance spread, they came up with the perfect solution (see pages 46 and 47). The true challenge came when the FINAL-deadline came. Three sections were incomplete-to tell the truth-unstarted. Through it all, this staff of crazies learned three things. Don't argue with editor, Ms. Jones has a life, and never volunteer to do a body.

MUSIC IN THE AIR

Presenting ... the Notre Dame Academy Music Club of 1982-1983!! The membership of this year's music club increased a bit since last year. Two new schools, Daniel Murphy High School and Crespi High School, were added to the Ensemble. One could not tell by their harmonious sound that the 11 men and 17 women singers in Ensemble only practiced once a week for three hours. The Choraliers and the Concert Choir practiced four days a week for one class period. Their long hours of hard work were evident in their talented singing. In addition to singing at the Christmas Concert, the singers performed at other functions such as: Nazareth House, a retirement home for the elderly; the Beverly Wilshire Hotel; N.D.A. Open House and at Back-to-School Night. A new afterschool group, calling themselves Les Chanteurs was added to the club's membership. The 30 singers in Les Chanteurs have worked with much effort to reach their goal: to participate in festivals and competitions. Director Wendy Susank worked hard with all four groups. They practiced for many hours so that they could perform well. The Christmas concert showed the musical capabilities of all the singers to good advantage. Their recognition is well deserved. Much credit goes to Wendy Susank for all her talent and devotion as the director.

Showing her precision skating, Christine Karavan tells us who she thinks is number one.

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

Membership in the National Honor Society, a new organization at Notre Dame, is considered to be one of the highest honors that can be awarded to a high school student. Eligibility is based on the four ideals of scholarship, service, leadership and character.

Each member must maintain a minimum G.P.A. of 3.0 and be judged a strong leader by the faculty. The Society helped organize the annual chocolate drive, served refreshments to the WASC committee, and met each Thursday to choose the Student of the Week. Linda Stevens served as president; Monique Heyninck as vice-president and Christina Cruz as secretary/treasurer. National Honor Society members were recognized as outstanding and cooperative students who worked together to benefit the school.

ENLIGHTENING US TO OUR FAITH

A solemn altar for a Thanksgiving celebration

Meditating on the readings for the Christmas Mass, Fr. Peter

There have been many changes in Campus Ministry since it was first organized three years ago, but its basic purpose has not changed. The 1983 Campus Ministry consisted of energetic and committed upperclassmen and faculty members helping promote Christian unity within the school through special services and projects. The organization's projects aimed at better relationships with God and each other.

The membership has grown from a handful of people to almost thirty. Since the members all work together on an equal basis, there are no "leaders." The group's advisors this year, Father Peter Lleo and Sister Marie Paul, and many faculty members offered their time to serve as coordinators. Because of the added interest, members rotated to four different committees, the Retreat group, the Liturgy group, the Prayer Service/Bible Study and Christian Service, so that they all had a chance to participate in the various programs. The Retreat group planned activities that would unite the people who attended in a spiritual sense. All the liturgies held were organized by the Liturgy committee who chose songs, decorated and created something for each Mass.

The Prayer Service/Bible Study held short services for students and faculty members. Christian Service sponsored many projects including the Adopt-a-Grandparent Program at a nearby convalescent home, and conducted food and toy drives to help St. Lawrence Brindisi Church in Los Angeles.

Our Best Foot Forward

Last spring, students, parents, teachers and administrators were busy making preparations for a visit from the Western Association of Secondary Schools and Colleges Accrediting Commission. This committee, made-up of lay people and religious, evaluated the school during a period of three days in November. The committee's objective was to see whether or not improvements had been encouraged through our school's own self-study and evaluation since the last assessment held in March of 1977.

Committees made up of students, faculty members, parents and others reevaluated questionnaires and comments written five years ago. Surveys were made. Then new questionnaires were made and reports were written to see if any new services or needs had arisen since then. This information, along with other reports done on our school's progress, the academic and extracurricular programs, questionnaires, and a report on Notre Dame's philosophies and goals was gathered. (They then compiled all these factors that make up the school into a self-evaluation report book)

These committees, along with the student body, all put much effort and thought into the preparation for the visit. Right up to the last minute, efforts were made to place a shine on the school. Students held a mini ecology party in which many volunteered to clean the building. On the days of the evaluation, students and teachers were on their best behavior. The care taken by one and all to be helpful, supportive and concerned demonstrated more clearly than any report the pride we have in ourselves and Notre Dame Academy.

J.V. TAKES FIRST

The Junior Varsity volleyball team had a great season all the way down to new equipment in the gym. The team played marvellously, capturing first place in the Sunshine League with a record of 9 and 1. The athletes attributed their success to long practice sessions and rigorous summer workouts under the guidance of their coach, Mr. Tom Brenner. The diligent work of summer paid off again when Captain Natalie Berwin and her nine teammates were very impressive in the Marlboro tournament. The team played with confidence and style, taking fourth place in a field of sixteen. The very talented players are just waiting until next year to repeat their winning season.

VARSITY

The Varsity Volleyball team of the 1982 season showed that hard work and devotion does payoff. The whole team showed lots of pride for their school and teammates by their excellent performance. With lots of spirit and constant support of one another, our varsity volleyball team had a terrific season. The team won six out of their 12 games which enabled them to advance to the CIF playoffs against Bishop Diego. Adding to their great record was the performance of Monica McNicholas who won first team all-league and Luanne Moore who won second team all-league.

ON YOUR MARK, GET SET, GO!

This year's cross country team practiced intensively to achieve their successful record of 6-6. Practice began during the summer-some members ran with their coach, Miss Linda Hetzler, practicing at their home 3-mile course, Rancho Park. Others took aerobic classes, ran at the beach and exercised on their own to ready themselves for the grueling season. When September finally arrived the team's captain, Valencia Roner and co-captain, Lisa Zee, led them through strenuous daily 5 mile practices for months. Throughout the season, the runners did a tremendous job in adapting themselves to the different courses including the torturous Will Rogers. The team participated in an invitational meet, October 29, at Mount San Antonio College. Two outstanding runners, Nikki Thomas and Lisa Zee, placed third and fifth in their league. After 12 meets, League Finals arrived, in which varsity team captured third place in the Sunshine League Division. All of the runners improved greatly over the season and all are looking forward to another year of fierce competition.

SPIRIT, THE FLAG GIRLS HAVE IT

"S-P-I-R-I-T- Hey! Let's hear it. We've got spirit ..." And spirit they definitely had. This year, the Notre Dame flag team has had more spirit than ever before. The spirit didn't just appear in one day though, it was built up very slowly. The team began preparing at the very beginning of summer vacation, three short days after school ended. They practiced 3 to 4 days a week, usually starting at 8:00 am and ending at 10 or 11:00 am. Patty Poduska, their coach, taught them basic flag maneuvers such as the count-of-eight as well as a full length routine. In August the team spent 4-days in intense training at a camp held at Loyola MaryMount University. There, they learned new moves and many new short routines. The girls also competed at this camp, and, according to their beaming coach and the proud parents who were looking on, they were the best of all the competitors.

The flag team brought home two trophies and a box full of ribbons. They were awarded "hardest working overall" and were commended on their improvement. All this time the team's spirit had been growing and becoming even more pronounced. All this enthusiasm did not diminish with the opening of school in September. The opening of school began with a super spirit explosion from the flag team. They performed at the freshman orientation and the orientation for returning students, at various lunchtime pep rallies and at back-to school night. The team continued its rigorous practice, keeping their schedule of 3 to 4 days, two to two-and-a-half hours a day. N.D.A.'s 1982-83 flag team worked hard and long and that hard work showed in everything they did whether in practice or in polished performances. They were the best and most spirited flag team this school has ever had.

OUR SPIRIT IS SKY HIGH

Notre Dame's 1982-'83 cheerleaders were full of energy and enthusiasm. This year the cheerleaders were enlarged, to fourteen girls and two squads; Varsity and Junior Varsity. The girls learned to work together during the summer when they went to a cheerleading camp for a week. They worked extremely hard on routines, cheers, and even incorporated dance steps to music in their routines.

They came back from camp more polished than ever, and it showed at the games. They put on quite a show for the major school sports teams at all the pep rallies. They got the whole student body revved up and excited, which was led by their captain, Susi Campos. The cheerleaders have since entered the Knott's Berry Farm competition.

Donna Ware, Rita Yee, Zita Schiano, Susi Campos, Ann Jackson, Gina McKiernan, Jenny Conklin, Maria DeArana, Ruth Caspary, Stephanie Kay, and Kelly Wernick stack up to show the height of their spirit.

The 1982-83 Notre Dame Basketball teams had a transfusion. Most of the people were new to the team, including the coach. The entire Junior Varsity was new and even Varsity got a face lift. But even with all the changes, both teams had a winning season. Lead by their coach Ms. Adele Rennie, assistant coach Michael Aquaviva, and their captains, Cindy Thomas and Karen Lewis (Junior Varsity), both teams were able to have a winning season with a record of 6-4. Varsity came in second behind undefeated Regina Caeli in the Sunshine League and advanced to the playoffs where they met the Atascadero Greyhounds at Atascadero for the first round in the C.I.F. playoffs. Due to an injury and some illnesses, some of the J.V. players had to advance to the Varsity league in order to have enough girls. Let's hope all of these girls will be back next year to dribble, pass, and shoot.

ALL WORK AND NO PLAY . . .

When a prospective student is accepted into Notre Dame Academy, she should be prepared for a serious academic curriculum. She is first presented with required challenging classes. All her courses are "set" through the high school. According to the WASC evaluation team, Notre Dame Academy stands as one of the top college preparatory schools. We have just received our six year accreditation this year. Our academic level is consistant and we are obligated to take these subjects in order to graduate: four years of Religion, four years of English, three years of math, two consecutive years of language, one year of an advanced science, one year of American History, one year of Government, one year of Physical Education-Health-Drivers education, and one semester of a fine art requirement. There are also many elective courses. LawPsychology, Creative Writing, and Accounting. Notre Dame Academy also has an excellent advanced placement department for those who wish to go even further in their high school education. These classes are Pre-Calculus, AP English, AP French, AP Spanish, AP Art, and AP Biology.

WHO SAYS ALL WE DO IS TEACH?!

One of the most important groups which make the school run is the faculty. In their own way they make the school uniformly unique. Each teacher teaches his or her own respective classes with a special style. Many teachers use anecdotes and play "teaching" games in an effort to get the students interested in their classes. They also share stories of their life when trying to make a point. But school is not their only life. Many of the teachers arrange extracurricular activities such as ice skating and skiing. During these times they just work on having fun with the students.

Many of the teachers relate what they are teaching to careers in the "real world." They emphasize the importance of learning and of self discipline. Throughout their classes they also present a Christian attitude, setting an example for the students. All in all they are a positive influence on the students while succeeding in their goal to relay information.

THE WANTED LIST

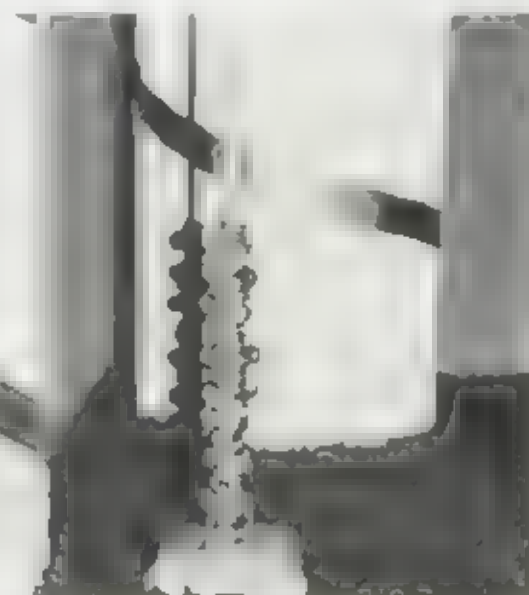

Here's a look at what goes on in the different classes at Notre Dame. First we will start off with the Jupiter Juniors. The juniors truly felt like upperclassmen after the annual, beautiful junior ring ceremony. It is said that junior year is the hardest, but this group of girls showed that they could handle it. They were looking forward to becoming Seniors and to slowly getting a taste of ruling the school. They had the privilege of cutting in front of sophomores and freshmen during 4A, but had to step back when they saw a Senior coming. Next year, the Juniors will be able to go off campus during lunch. It will surely be a privilege well-earned.

Sophomore year is an important year in academic life. It is the first year that counts towards college. Most sophomores had a schedule that included: chemistry, biology, typing, and geometry. They struggled through, and still kept a light attitude and "up" spirit.

Michelle Stull, Junior Class President and victim of the "Black Box"

Freshmen, Roxanne Vargas, Wendy Walsh and Jocelyn Guhama have a definite style all their own.

Juniors receive rings to symbolize upper-class status and beginning of upper class problems

Speaking of spirit, the Freshmen class is last but surely not the least. The newcomers to Notre Dame were freshmen. These "gung ho" girls gave their teachers a new gray hair a day, but they were loaded with smiles and spirit. The freshmen spirit leads them through their first year of high school. As freshmen, they had certain obligations such as putting away chairs, being last in the cafeteria and other lines and climbing to the top of the school for their lockers. But did they mind? No?? For guidance they looked to their big sisters, the juniors, and tried to follow in their footsteps.

STRAY CAT SPIRIT

The Notre Dame Day activities of The Sophomore class began loud and clear with the unrolling of the class banner by President Alma Benitez.

The class showed its tremendous spirit by yelling the letters at the top of their lungs. The class then returned to homeroom to dress in black ears and whiskers and emerged minutes later. The Stray Cat Sophs. after posing for pictures in front of the school, the Sophomores joined the parade through the elementary school. The class cheerleaders performed to "The Stray Cat Strut" and the yell leaders led the rest of the class in singing and fingersnapping. In the volleyball games of the afternoon the Stray Cats defeated the Seniors but then were disappointingly defeated themselves by the Juniors. Nonetheless, the entire class enjoyed the day and showed their spirit with defening Caterwaulig.

Ruth Casper and Ann Jackson do last minute homework before the starting bell

Perhaps the biggest step, academically, for high school students is Sophomore year. Sophomore year strikes suddenly, sending students into quite a frenzy. This year the class of '85 took many heavy courses such as Chemistry, Biology, French II, Spanish II, and German II, along with nonelectives like English, Religion, and Geometry. Many times the homework load was so heavy that a mere 24-hour day was not enough to cope with it all. As a result Sophomores grabbed every chance they got to study. Desperate Sophomores could be found studying in the cafeteria, library, empty open classrooms, and the halls. They scurried frantically down halls screaming for Cliff Notes, Biology notes, and the like. Cramming was a favorite mode of study, and many unprepared Sophomores could be seen scanning their notes before school, and during lunch hour sprawled all over campus. The wise have learned not to disturb studying Sophomores.

In an effort to relieve the tension of studying, Josephina Hidalgo, Monica Gonzalez and Kelly Nicholson share a joke

THE LIFE OF A SOPHOMORE

Sophomore life does not consist only of studying, but of relaxing and having a good time as well. Their lunch period involves many activities which alleviate the pressures of school. These activities range from talking about guys to school work, and of course EATING! Although the cafeteria was off limits to sophomores at 4A and eating was put off till 4B, the girls found this time useful for studying. Those who couldn't wait until 4B ate outside to satisfy their hungry stomachs. Once the bell ring, however, these easy-going girls get back into the grind of school and classes.

The great outdoors beats the cafeteria any time. Just ask Ruth Ikeda, Beth Stine, Tracy Swann, Yvette Abatte, and Alison Akins'

A NEW BEGINNING

For most Freshmen, Orientation Day brought many mixed emotions. There was the sadness that comes with the end of summer; the nervousness (which soon disappeared) of attending a new school and, of course, the excitement and anticipation of making many new friends.

WHERE ARE THEY?

Where could you always find a Freshman? Where else but doing her FAVORITE official job of taking down the chairs after assembly. Freshmen were also seen in the bathroom brushing their hair; in the halls taping up their favorite stars in their lockers; and of course, in the library studying — or were they?

PHYSICALLY FIT FRESHMEN

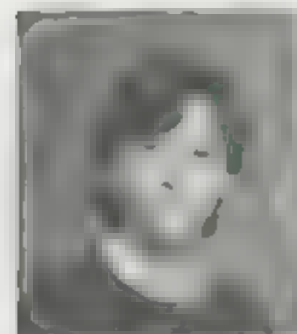

Notre Dame was full of excitement and the Freshmen class contributed greatly to this spirit. They really carried out their name "Physically Fit Freshmen" to the end. Their musical routine included the cheerleaders with an aerobics routine to the song "Work That Body" by Diana Ross. The rest of the class wore red bands around their heads to show that to be Physically Fit can really be hard work!!!

DANCING WITH SPIRIT

The first high school dance was memorable to the Freshmen in a special way. Concluding the Friendship week was the Friendship dance. Who else would have been better than the rock group Venice to liven up their evening? This was definitely the perfect way to start off their new school lives at NDA.

"Aloha, To my niece Lillian" and her best friends, Susy, Kathy, Cathy N., Cathy C., Patty, Lisette, Judy, Darlene, Christy & Michelle. Wishing you all a lot of fun times together, your Aunt Sory

To all my best friends: Ana, Chris, Dana, Elena, Lauren & Vanessa,

Well it's finally our senior year. Just a few more months and we will all be going our separate ways. I think we are all excited about our graduation, and I don't think any one of us can believe our turn to go has finally arrived. I guess I can't help to feel sadness in my heart to know that we are all going to be split up. The thought of losing my friendship with you breaks my heart. I know I will always treasure each one of you. I think of you guys as my dearest friends. When you are hurting, I hurt too; When you are happy, I'm happy too. All of you have been wonderful to me and I love you all very much. God blessed me with friends like you. "Diamond girls you sure do shine, Glad I found you, glad you are mine, I could never find other ones like you. Part of me is deep down inside you. Makes no difference where you are, day or nighttime you are like a shining star, how could I shine without you, when it's about you that I am

I love you.
Margo

Francoise et Lauren,

Bonjour mes amies françaises. C'est notre dernière année d'être ensemble. Je sais qu'après notre graduation nous serons amies mais je suis un peu triste en tout cas. Vous êtes mes très chères amies. Je ne sais pas que je serais sans vous. J'espère que vous serez contentes dans vos futures

Je vous aime,
Angele

My "BESTEST" Friend- AILEEN TAKEDA!!!

In 4 years, we've been through A LOT!!! But we've always made it. I know one thing is for sure, that I wouldn't have made it without you. You gave me all your moral support, A LOT of help, and you always had a positive attitude (I'm POSITIVE we're gonna fail!) With you, I have a shoulder to lean on when I need strength and encouragement, and to cry on when I'm scared and confused. We've been friends for 6 years!!

This is signed with a very, very big bearhug and several tears 'cuz I'm gonna miss all the fun times we've had together and 'cuz we're gonna finally GRADUATE!

LOVE,
THE "BESTEST" FRIENDS 4-EVER!!!

MARIE . BYE!!!

To My Wiennue-Face:

Time has passed and I still can't believe you're gone. I wonder what it is going to take for me to finally realize that you are not here to share my senior year with me. It's so hard to accept that I've actually come this far with such anticipation, only to find us separated. It seems to make everything so meaningless and sad, Carol, I know it's not much, but I hope that in years to come you'll read this dedication and be reminded of all the love that we have shared and all the wonderful memories that have accompanied our so very special friendship.

Foreign Lands

*Up into the cherry tree
Who should climb but little me?
I held the trunk with both my hands
And looked abroad on foreign lands.*

*I saw the next door garden lie,
Adorned with flowers, before my eye,
And many pleasant places more
That I had never seen before.*

*I saw the dimpling river pass
And be the sky's blue looking-glass,
The dusty roads go up and down
With people tramping in to town.*

*If I could find a higher tree,
Farther and farther I should see,
To where the grown-up river slips
Into the sea among the ships.*

*To where the roads on either hand
Lead onward into fairy land,
Where all the children dine at five,
And all the playthings come alive.*

Would like to thank Sister Gina Marie, the faculty, especially Sister Marie Paul and the students for all their help in making the 1982-83 school year a success

Thank you to all our Patrons and Sponsors for supporting us in our Yearbook Endeavor!

Michelle Stull and Cathy Nakano show their friendship in the library

Catherine Alfonso, Daphne Del Rosario, and Mario Fleming really express the mood of the music by the looks on their faces

Alfonso Reyes, Zita Santos, and Shelly Rodriguez were under the table bar at the sister/sister party

Another year at Notre Dame has passed . . . But has it really been just another year?

This year saw new things take root here which the alumni never would have foreseen. Things like our new uniforms, The National Honor Society, a second secretary and a second office to go with her.

Other additions to our school this year were; our chaplain, Father Peter, who said masses and heard confessions regularly, new teachers, and, for the athletic department, new coaches and new sports equipment. We were evaluated by W.A.S.C. representatives who were so impressed with our school that they gave us high ranking and a 6-year accreditation.

All these things contributed to making our school a singularly wonderful place, but the real force behind this unique and outstanding year was the student body.

Jumping high for a spike at one of our home games is Julie Felice

The Freshmen give a big smile at the camera while they are sitting on the floor in front of their lockers

The students fortunately get a chance to watch the performance of an actress portraying Abigail Adams

The Blues Brothers, Mylene Recto and Helen Martinez, make their debut at Notre Dame Academy

Julie Felice, Monica McNicholas, Jeanne Cueva, Sara Fairfoot, and Alicia Brusa grab the attention of the photographer during the chocolate drive assembly

The overgrown Scouts, Carrie Gomez, Mylene Rector, Angela Brees, and Lape Barragan on stage.

Betha Doerr, Anne Koss, Dawn De-la Roca, Delia Johnson, Ishtar Nakam, and Linda Stevens display theironor rings which they received last year.

Celebrating this year's Christmas Mass is Father Peter J. Lee.

Rita Yee gets ready, eyes on stage for the 1974 date of year Deanne Wynn and Maria Arana cheer with her dance.

Are we having fun yet?

Linda Stevens hands Karen Strex more chocolate "Lovers"

WE DID IT OUR WAY!

The Royale staff of 1982-83 was able once again to complete 248 pages of triumphs, hardships, and good times. People who once had lives of their own, willingly gave them up in an effort to give the administration, faculty, staff and students of Notre Dame a new book of memories. We wish to take a page now to acknowledge the unique contributions of each member: Catherine Castaneda, Patricia Castellon, Florangela Davila, Kate Denlea, Nancy Denlea, Lisa Dennehy, Julie Fernandez, Maria Garcia, Jocelyn Guihama, Joy Guihama, Debbie Ikeda, Ruth Ikeda, Joy Ito, Karen Morgan, Judy Nakano, Elizabeth Park, Lewis, Rita Morgan, Judy Nakano, Elizabeth Park, Yvette Prado, Diana Ramos, Karen Sorey, Beth Stein, Aileen Takeda, Jennifer Wakakuwa, Yumi Wakakuwa, and Wendy Walsh. Special awards go to the following: Debbie Ikeda (assistant editor): winner of the St. Steven award for martyrdom for the Royale cause. Jennifer "munchkin" Wakakuwa: The crazy glue award for making us all stick to it. Joy Ito (assistant editor): The See's Candy award for sweetness under fire. Aileen Takeda: The 9to5 award for typing without pervious experience. Cathy Castaneda: The Henry Kissenger award for Shuttle Diplomacy between the chiefs and indians. Ruth Ikeda: The Bette Midler Certificate because she doesn't care what people think. Elizabeth Park: Yes, she was here- EVERYDAY! ROYALE
SUPPLEMENT

Displaying their close friendship throughout their high school years are Angela Corkhill and Patricia Lahickey

Mary Lahickey and Michelle Stull represent one of many friendships between the Juniors and Seniors

SHARING MEMORIES

The Proud Bird Restaurant, located directly under the path of the airplanes at L.A.X., was the setting for this year's Junior-Senior Banquet (with faculty in attendance) on May 20, 1983. At this time, the Juniors were able to thank the Seniors for their valuable support and helpful advice throughout the years. In return, the Seniors willed the Juniors many of their valuable possessions. Since it was to be one of the last times the Juniors and Seniors would be together, they enjoyed every minute of it

Clowning around during the banquet are Sylvia Ferretti, Mary Lahickey, Christina Gonzales, Ana Segundo, and Elena Padilla

Shown here are members of the faculty and student council as a prayer is said in honor of Mary

IN HONOR OF MARY

Monday, May 2, 1983, was a special and beautiful day celebrated in honor of Mary. Everything from the sunny weather to the elegant flowers were present to make it a perfect day. Father Peter along with members of the faculty and student body said a few special words to tell how Mary plays an important role in each of our lives.

Patricia Lahickey has the great honor of placing the crown of flowers on Mary's head

Father Leo recites a few special words to the student body

CURSE YOU RED BARON!

Early in 1983 there was some doubt as to whether NDA would get a Spring play off the ground. In the past two years various problems such as the loss of directors and difficulties finding appropriate material forced the cancellation of production.

Still, in late February Ms. Laura Rhodes agreed to direct a play and produce a finished product in less than three months. She informed a crowded room of girls that NDA would perform YOU'RE A GOOD MAN, CHARLIE BROWN. The room was filled

Denise Grant portraying Snoopy, World War I flying ace, makes her feelings about the Red Baron known to the big blue yonder and the audience

"Beethoven had it nice," Cindy Thomas as Schroeder ruminates on the peaceful life of Ludwig Von Beethoven.

Schroeder (Cindy Thomas) plays his all purpose piano while Lucy (Lynne Mangione) looks on adoringly - contemplating marriage

Ah- the merits of a "delightful" friend, Stacy MacMillan's Linus cites a few of these as she sings "My Blanket and Me."

Dana Della Rocca as Peppermint Patty teases Denise Grant's Snoopy refusing to give him a kiss. "The curse of a fuzzy face."

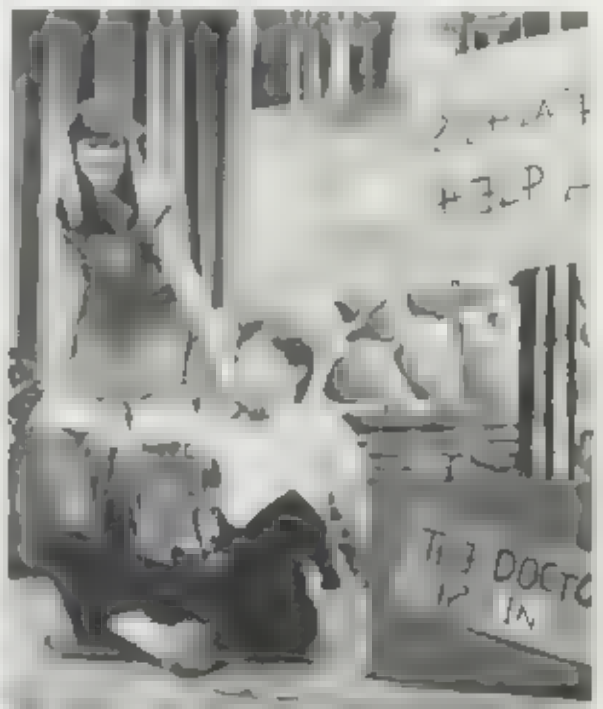

The cast: Cindy Thomas as Schroeder, Denise Grant as Snoopy, Tim Marble as Charlie Brown, Lynne Mangione as Lucy, Dana Della Rocca as Peppermint Patty sing tribute to their leading man, Charlie Brown. (Not pictured, Stacy MacMillan as Linus) with groans and sighs of good grief at the thought of putting together a musical in so short a time. Hopes were further dashed when excited would-be actresses discovered that of the six characters in the play, four were males. However, not even this impediment kept twenty Broadway bound students from auditioning.

From that long list six students were cast in speaking roles. Cindy Thomas portrayed the astute musician Schroeder. Denise Grant was the hit of the kindergarten crowd with her lively personification of Snoopy. Stacy MacMillan brought the retiring Linus to life-blanket and all. Charming performances were also turned in by Lynne Mangione as the indomitable Lucy and, of course, the star of the show, Tim Marble, our Charlie Brown.

Laughter from the audience arose quite often. Such times were caused by the quick witty sayings of many of the characters and, of course, the occasions when Lucy displayed to everyone her beautiful shrill singing voice! The production provided an enjoyable evening for all.

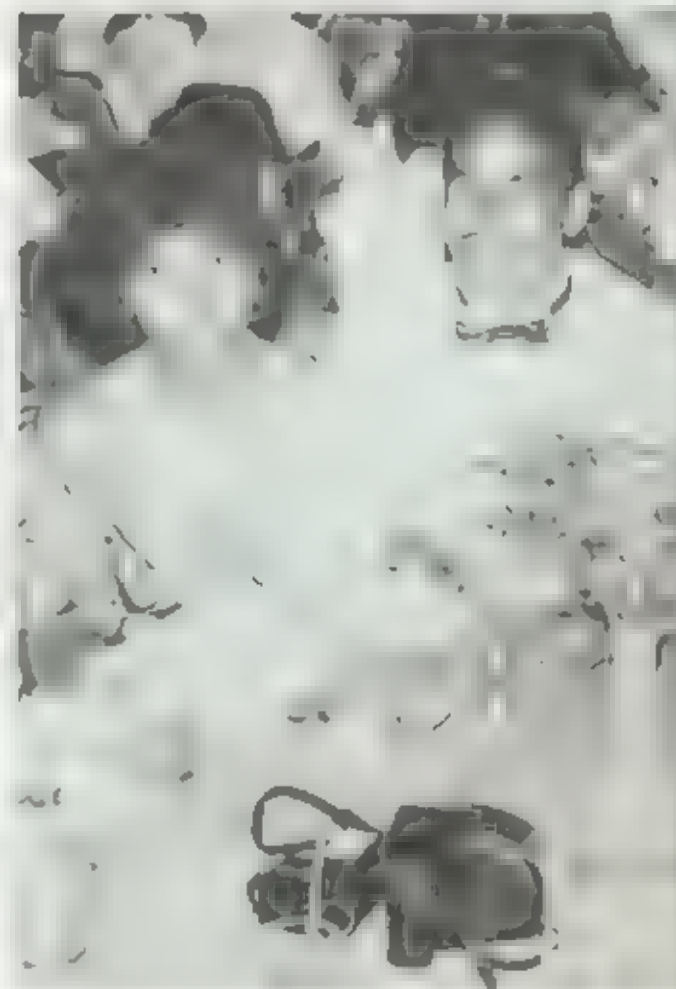

Good Grief, isn't the Psychiatrist (Lynne Mangione) supposed to help Charlie Brown (Tim Marble)? Would Freud approve of this technique?

A NIGHT TO REMEMBER

Prom Day's really here! PPD's (Possible Prom Dates) were replaced by DPD's (Definite Prom Dates). "But what am I supposed to do until he gets to my side of the car?" I hope my dress doesn't get caught in the door." Pictures at 7:30? "Oh no, do I look all right? Is my hair fixed?" And after the photographs were taken the real fun began. Dance dance, dance. The band was wonderful and played all our favorite songs. We had cute dates and sophisticated dates, and all at the Ambassador Hotel. What more can a girl ask for? But, indeed, five lucky girls did get more. Michelle Stull, Bernadette Ceballos, Julie Felice and Karen Milne were voted princesses of the 1983 Prom while Mylene Recto won special honors as Prom Queen. After the Prom ended, much earlier than expected, and most couples finally finished eating, they went home and went straight to bed? Wouldn't you?

A TRIBUTE

Sister Gina Marie is important to everyone here at Notre Dame. On May 19, 1983 the faculty and student body were able to show her their appreciation by celebrating a mass in her honor. In addition, gifts were given to her along with a slide presentation showing Sister with her friends and doing various activities. Thank you, Sister, for Everything!

SAN QUENTIN VS. CLASS OF '83

SUBJECT: San Quentin vs. the Class of '83. San Quentin claimed that the Class of '83 was too dangerous to be let out upon the unsuspecting world. The class maintained that after four years in prison they were fully rehabilitated.

Arguments were presented for this release on June 2, 1983 at the Senior presentation where accounts of their life at NDA were re-enacted. Evidence included the taking of mug shots (A.K.A. Senior portraits), the Blood Drive, the Junior Senior Banquet, where one by one students died of poisoning, and the prom, where a group of INTERESTING couples got together.

VERDICT: The class was released because San Quentin couldn't take their spirit anymore.

OUT AT

They're out! June 5, 1983 at 4 pm, the San Quentin sentence was finally over. They started out as crazy freshmen and ended up as seniors with mixed emotions of happiness and tears at their graduation. Their nerves were on the go as they tried to look natural in their caps and gowns. And of course, there was confusion, especially as Denise Grant stepped out of the auditorium with a look as if to say, "What should I do?" All the faculty was there and they had seats on the convent steps above the graduates. This left a lot of room for the parents, who came to see their "little inmates" released, but still there were not enough chairs for the huge numbers of people that came. The award ceremony came next where unexpected firecrackers were lit.

LAST!

Directly following came the speech by salutatorian, Monique Heynick. Mary Lahickey, one of the valedictorians, thanked her classmates in a speech stressing their theme, "We go to seek a great perhaps." Kate Denlea then presented the Blessed Virgin with a bouquet of yellow roses in gratitude for her loving support. To bring the ceremony to a close the Ensemble led the Alma Mater and the graduates joined in enthusiastically. All the graduates then returned to the auditorium to say their last goodbyes with hugs and tears. And to top it all off the seniors sang their class song.
